

Glitch current at start-up

There is a glitch current as over 5A. But the duration of the current less than 1usec.
Is there any issue with reliability?