

When the output signal changes the frequency, is there a frequency relation between the two CW?

In the red box, I've defined the relation that we will want. In other terms, We will want a phase relation between the two frequencies: the second CW start following the phase of the last CW, without jump or delta phase.