

The typical application of bq29330 has RC filter on each VCx pins and capacitor connected between VCx pin and GND. Now our customer plan to configure RC filter like the picture on right-hand side. Do you have any concern about this configuration?

